Who We Are

As an arm of the School of Business Dean’s office, our mission is to foster a dynamic and inclusive educational environment for holistic student development that empowers current and future students to achieve academic excellence, engage in experiential learning, understand a diverse world, and develop professionalism. As part of this mission, the Office of Undergraduate Advising partners with faculty, staff, and students across all of UConn’s campuses to support all aspects of undergraduate education.

Professional Advisors

Professional Academic Advisors advise first and second year Business students, and are available as a resource to third and fourth year Business students.

Kayla Hogrefe, Academic Advisor, Office of Undergraduate Advising

Faculty Advisors

Faculty Academic Advisors work with third and fourth year Business students, primarily advising on field and career opportunities. Students are assigned advisors within their major departments.

Dr. Robert Day, Associate Professor, OPIM

Peer Advisors

Peer Advisors are Business students who advise by sharing a student perspective. They primarily serve first and second year students, but are also available to third and fourth year students.

Student Organizations
Engage Beyond the Classroom

"People create jobs. Don't chase jobs, chase people. Use your undergrad experience to learn the art of networking. Student organizations give you a great place to start" - Kelly Kennedy, Associate Director of Student Development and Outreach

Engaging beyond the classroom is an important part of your development as a student and professional. In addition to offering the opportunity to network, student organizations strengthen leadership skills, teach time management, and are a great way to build friendships. UConn offers hundreds of clubs and organizations, including a number of Business organizations. Check out the lists below to get started!

EDUCATION ABROAD

Your Adventure Begins Here

The graduates of the UConn School of Business are entering a global workplace. There are a variety of opportunities for students to study abroad while completing winter/summer degrees to better prepare themselves for a career in a globalized business industry. Most courses, students, and advisors can be found in the winter/summer abroad without losing any time towards graduation. Discussions with early on between a student and their Academic Advisor on planning for an extraordinary experience abroad.

What is driving your adventure?

WHERE TO GO?
If you know where you want to go, explore what you can take there. Remember, it is okay to go abroad and not take any business courses. Please see an advisor to coordinate your schedule around this experience. Learn More

WHEN TO GO?
We offer opportunities for both fall and spring semesters, though there are some programs offered in winter/summer.

WHAT COURSES?
If you know far enough in advance what you want to go in a particular term in your junior/summer years, your major may impact what courses you should take. Please see this tool to help you find a place that meets both needs. Don't forget to see an advisor to explore any specific impacts on your major.

INTEGRATION?
We offer both semester-long and summer internships focused in business. Learn More.

Program listings for MDM and OPIM course offerings are coming soon.
Business Fundamentals Summer Program

Your Business Career Starts Here

Analytics is the language of the future of business. Would you like to work towards attaining an Analytics minor? If so, this summer is your chance to make that happen. The Summer 2019 Business Fundamentals Program offers coursework in Analytics, one of the skillsets highest in demand by employers in all industries. During the intensive seven-week program you will receive training in career development and take classes in Analytics taught by instructors from one of the top AACSB-accredited public business schools in New England. This program is especially designed to provide students with the skills they need for career success.

2019 Program Dates: May 13, 2019 - June 27, 2019

Sign up today as space is limited!

*Should student interest exceed program capacity, individuals may be evaluated based upon academics, progress toward graduation, and registration date.
